

SEE & DO

LOCAL FLAVOR

Tour and taste at wineries and breweries, stop by the charming Wimberley Farmers Market (Wednesdays, 3-6 p.m.) or enjoy wine and appetizers along with the artwork on the Second Saturday Gallery Trail. On Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights (Memorial Day to Labor Day), pack lawn chairs and snacks for an outdoor movie at the Corral Theatre. wimberley.org

SWIMMING HOLES

Peek into the depths at Jacob's Well Natural Area, where a prized artesian spring is perfect for a swim or a daring dive, or head to the historic Blue Hole on Cypress Creek for a dip closer to town. visitwimberley.com/jacobswell, cityofwimberley.com

FRAGRANT BLOOMS

Seven miles west of Wimberley, pick your own lavender, take an herb class or shop in the on-site store at Rough Creek Lavender Fields. roughcreeklavender.com

Story | KATHRYN HUNTER

Wimberley MARKET DAYS

Texas small towns are built on tradition; at this time-honored Hill Country event you'll find anything you'd ever want (and then some).

A beloved community event since 1964, Wimberley Market Days is the oldest and second largest outdoor market in Texas, held the first Saturday of every month from March to December. Visit more than 475 vendors' booths, which trade in everything from antiques and handcrafted jewelry to spices and baked goods, and enjoy the live music, food and tree-shaded paths along the way.

Although visitors arrive from all over the state and beyond to shop at Market Days, there's a refreshing atmosphere of small-town sociability. Some vendors have been taking part in the event for as many as 30 years. And you can feel good about filling your shopping bags: The Wimberley Lions Club donates profits from booth rentals and concessions to charities and scholarships.

Wimberley, a popular tourist destination year-round, is known for its scenery as well as its seasonal shindigs: Ancient cypress trees droop over crystal clear rivers, and ribbons of road wind through stone-strewn, rolling hills. Art galleries and restaurants, local swimming holes, outdoor attractions and the close proximity to Austin and San Antonio make it a setting you can hang your hat for a Market Day weekend or for weeks at a time. ♡